The Gap

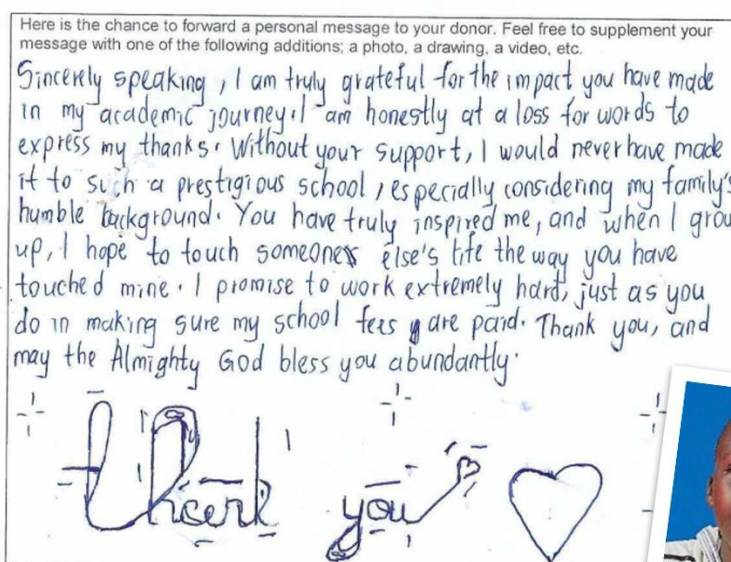

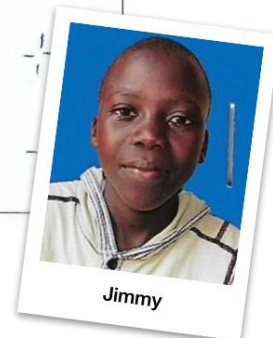

In Kenya, public Junior Secondary School and University both benefit from government support. But public Senior Secondary School (High-School) - the three critical years in between - that support covers only a small part of the cost. The brightest students earn a place at the best public boarding high schools - but families often carry the full cost alone: tuition, materials, uniforms and more. For talented students from financially disadvantaged backgrounds, this is where the journey ends. We support these young people through our scholarship program - but twenty years of experience tell us that financial support alone isn't enough. The real turning point often comes after graduation, so our support doesn't stop at High School. It's the start of a lifelong journey: free access to mentoring, coaching, employability and entrepreneurship training, and an alumni network where today's scholars become tomorrow's mentors.

Our Impact Circle

What can you expect as a donor?

As a donor, you receive a yearly term report on your scholar's progress and a personal update - and whenever we meet your scholar at one of our mentoring or coaching programs, we bring you a direct message in their own words, whenever possible as a video.
